A STARTLING SCENE.

BLOODTHIRSTY UTES AND ARMED WHITES FACING EACH OTHER.

A Highly Exciting Time Before the Commission at Los Pinos--Knives Drawn--Ouray's Action.

Washington Post, 10th.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 9.—Special dispatches to the Denver Tribune from Los Pinos, dated the 6th, represent that on Saturday there were some decidedly animated occurrences at the commissioner's meeting. After Jack had declined to inform the commissioners what Indians were concerned in the White river massacre, the Indians retired to Ouray's house to debate what course to pursue. No Indians appeared at the agency until Saturday, but they seem to have been at Ouray's in conducting the wildest dance and in making fiery speeches. A man was sent from the agency to Ouray's with feed for the horses of the Indians, and judged from the noise on the inside that the Indians were greatly excited. Those he saw were bedecked in feathers and war-paint. He was so frightened that he turned back and did not deliver the hay. On Saturday at noon, the Utes came into the agency and took seats inside the agency building. Jack, Colorow and twelve other White River Utes and of course, Ouray (having been among the Indians) were present. When the Indians and commissioners had taken seats General Hatch made an address, setting forth the full demands of the commissioners, their right to make demands and the patience already exercised with the Utes. "To-day," he said, "is your last chance. We will wait no longer. We want your final answer and we want no evasions." A list of Utes, charged by the agency women with taking part in the massacre, was then read, and the question put by General Hatch:

"Will you surrender the men whose names are in this paper to be tried, and if guilty be punished, and if innocent acquitted?"

The question was put twice, and after consultation evasive answers were returned both times. When the question was repeated the third time Ouray replied without consulting the other Utes:

"How do we know that these Indians you name were at White river at the time of the massacre? Or even if they were, we do not know that they were concerned in it. These women mentioned names which came first to their lips, whether they knew them to be present or not. We cannot depend on what they say."

"That is what we depend on," said General Hatch.

General Adams then addressed the Indians, making a speech of over an hour's duration, saying among other things that the commissioners did not want to punish Colorow, Jack and others who took part in the Thornburgh fight, but the cowardly dogs who participated in the massacre of unarmed men at the agency. He closed by saying:

"We want those Utes, and we will have them."

The Indians held a conversation in a low tone of voice among themselves, but did not seem inclined to reply at all. Then General Hatch again arose and asked whether the guilty Indians were to be surrendered, saying that he had made his last appeal. No one moved or spoke for a few moments, then Colorow lighted a big pipe, the "pipe of peace." Each Indian present drew his knife and laid it on his knees, the question of peace or war being the one pending. Colorow then passed the pipe to the next man without smoking, and it went round the circle. When the circle was finished he jumped to his feet, straightened up to his full height, pulled his belt around until the knife-sheath was in front, and snatching the knife out, threw it quivering and ringing upon the floor. Instantly every Indian present laid his hand upon his knife or pistol, the whites following their example. The two parties stood fronting and defying each other for some moments, each waiting for the other to make some forward movement. There were only six white men in the room, while the Indians numbered twenty-five, though there were fifteen soldiers in an adjoining room. Finally Ouray spoke.

"We cannot deliver up those Indians unless they are tried in Washington. They must not be tried in Colorado. Colorado people are all our enemies, and to give them up to be tried in this State would be to surrender them to a mob who would hang them. We will bring those twelve men here for you to see, and then those whom you decide guilty shall be taken to Washington, and the President shall determine their guilt or innocence. Douglass will have to go; we know he was in the White river troubles and you shall decide who else. Upon this condition and no other will we surrender the twelve men."

The chief spoke with great boldness. Ouray added that it would require about a week to bring the men in. General Hatch told him that he accepted the proposition as far as bringing the men in was concerned, but as for taking them to Washington he would have first to telegraph to Secretary Schurz to get permission to do so before he could agree to take the Indians East. Colorow and Jack were immediately dispatched to bring in the twelve named, including Douglass and Persune. They said they would return in five days. After they had gone Ouray again spoke, reiterating his belief that the Utes could not get justice in Colorado and could only get it in Washington.

"You three," said Ouray, meaning Generals Hatch and Adams and their legal adviser, Valois, "are all my enemies. I am one against three. You hate me. You are all Colorado or New Mexico men, and a French devil. I have not one friend among you. You will not give me justice, and that is why I want to go to Washington, where I can, at least, have one friend."

CONGRESSIONAL MATTERS.

The Tea and Coffee Duty Called For.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The Senate adopted a resolution offered by Morrill, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the effect upon the revenues and upon consumers from the repeal of duty on tea and coffee in 1872.

The resolution heretofore offered by Senator Davis, of West Virginia, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for a statement of private claims growing out of the late war paid since 1864. Mr. Davis accepted the amendment offered by Senator Edmonds, changing the date to March 4th, 1860.

Senator Morrill offered an amendment to include information and asked for all such claims which have been presented to and rejected by the Treasury Department and also which may now be pending therein. The resolution as amended was then adopted.

At 1 P. M. the Senate went into executive session, and, when the doors were reopened, adjourned.

The Senate in executive session today confirmed the nomination of the postmasters: Benjamin M. Cox, at Farmville, Va.; Samuel N. Amell, at Columbia, Tenn.; Henry L. Rankin, at Hampstead, Texas, and John C. Manning at San Antonio, Texas.

HOUSE.

The concurrent resolution to adjourn from December 19th to January 6th was taken up.

Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, moved its passage,

Mr. Maxey moved its reference to the Committee on Appropriations. He was opposed to the resolution, this motion was lost and the resolution was adopted 36 to 21.

The regular order was then demanded, whereupon the Speaker stated that the regular order was the consideration of the bill prohibiting political contributions by Federal officers and government contractors. After a short discussion it was agreed that the bill be taken out of the morning hour and be made special order for January 7th. The speaker then proceeded to call the committee for their reports. Acklen, of Louisiana, from the Committee on Commerce reported the bill authorizing the appointment of a deputy collector at Lake Charles, Lonisiana. Passed.

Wait, of Connecticut, from the same committee, reported the bill amending section 2,771 of revised statutes, so as to allow any vessel not of the United States to unload at any port of delivery in a custom collection district, after due entry of said vessel and cargo at a port of entry in the same district. Pending action on the bill, the morning hour expired and the House went into Committee of the Whole on the bill relating to the publication of the Supreme Court reports. A long discussion ensued as to the salary of reporters, which was finally fixed at $4,000, after which the committe rose and reported the bill to the House. The amendments were agreed to and the bill passed. The Speaker laid before the House a number of executive and other communications, which were appropriately referred. The House then adjourned.

The committee on canals met this morning and informally reviewed the work before them.

A meeting of the sub-committee, of which Representative Turner is Chairman, will meet to-morrow morning to consider House bill No. 384 of last session relating to the granting of right of way to the Georgia & Florida Canal Company.

After the reading of the journal Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, introduced a joint resolution, which was referred, proposing the following amendment to the Constitution article on polygamy, which shall not exist within the limits of the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction: Sec. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

The House banking and currency committee to-day re-opened their former action on the bill requiring reserves on the national banking assees to be kept in gold and silver in lieu of legal-tender notes, and adopted the amendment offered by Judge Buckner, which strikes out the requirement of the maintenance of the reserve of twenty-five per centum on the amount of circulation, and makes this provision.

The following appointments of storekeepers and gaugers in the International Revenue Service have been made by the Treasury Department: L. O. Loflin, for the Sixth District of North Carolina, James Polk Peeples, for the Eighth District of Tennessee. J. M. Church, for the Second District of Georgia, H. C. Binford, for the Second District of Alabama.

A CELEBRATED CASE.

THE TRIAL OF THE REV. MR. HAYDEN.

A Concise Review of the Case after The Closing for the Prosecution--Humbuggery.

Brooklyn Eagle, 6th.

Having struggled for thirty-three days with a varied assortment of remarkable statements, the prosecution in the great Hayden trial rested yesterday, and the defense opened. While the case so far is an immense piece of patchwork, designed in its colors and constituents to first trace a motive to the accused and then demonstrate how he might have accomplished the murder it has utterly failed to develop any subsequent act of his which might properly fasten suspicion upon him. It is in proof that the dead girl confessed to relations with him not purely pastoral; that on the day of her death she started to meet him; that she was found dead at the trysting place, with her throat cut and her system impregnated with arsenic. Experts have shown that the arsenic was of a character different from that possessed by Hayden, and have found minute particles of blood on his penknife. All this may raise a presumption against him, but it does not effectually destroy the last doubt. In the struggle that must have attended such a death it would seem almost impossible for the murderer to have escaped without carrying traces of his crime upon his clothing, and yet only an infinitesimal drop of blood was found upon his shirt. The actions of the man are inconsistent with his station in life and with a murderer. If he is sustained by absolute will power instead of conscious innocence, such a will had long ago raised him above a poverty stricken country parson and district school teacher. If he be guilty he is a man of sufficient nerve and power to have rendered the murder unnecessary, and these things will be considered by the jury in reviewing his case. Through the trial the prosecution has appeared to labor hard to make it a causus celebræ It has apparently done much for effect, not only on the jury, but also on the public. To sustain its reputation for having thoroughly prepared its case, it has dragged in a portentous amount of unnecessary and unavailable elements, and has laid itself open to a terrible arrangement when the counsel for the defense go to the jury. When stripped of its shadowy foliage its case will be barren as a winter tree, and, dealing as it will with motives, the jury must look through the zeal which has characterized the State, and though perhaps detecting nothing but a simple discharge of an imperative duty, find its sympathies leaning toward strong doubts of the man's guilt. In many respects it is the most remarkable murder trial of the age, and whether Hayden suffer or not, it will be held up as a precedent to some as to what line to follow in future murder cases, to others, whot to avoid.

TRUTH IN A NUTSHELL.

The Perpetual Chairman a Chronse and Incorrigible Interviewer.

Philadelphia Record.

The perpetual chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee, of North Carolina seems to be Mr. Thomas B. Keogh, who, it is asserted, has occupied that post for ten consecutive years past. This gentleman is a chronic and incorrigible interviewer. The frequency with which he comes before the public through reports in the newspapers of alleged conversations with him is something wonderful. He appears somehow to get into print oftener than any other person of his size in the United States. He is as irrepressible as was Tittlebat Titmouse's head of hair, and his pertinacity in popping up beats Monsieur Tonson and Jack-in-the box both put together. Mr. Keogh's last deliverance to the country is put in the shape of an interview in yesterday's New York Tribune. Passing over some speculations and prognostics upon Southern politics, which are of very doubtful reliability, and coming to his statements about North Carolina the attention of the reader of the Tribune's report is arrested by the charge that in the Second Congressional district there was "10,000 Republican majority, but they returned the Democratic candidate as elected." A paragraph or two further along, Mr. Keogh says of the negro exodus from his adopted State: "The emigrants are mostly from the Second district, where the Democratic frauds deprived us of our Republican member." The statement as to the result in the district specified is grossly inaccurate. There were two Republican candidates for Congress in that district last year, James E. O'Hara and James H. Harris both negroes, and they divided the Republican vote between them, thus giving Hon. William H. Kitchin, Democrat, a plurality of the votes actually cast. There was no bulldozing nor tissue-balloting at the polls, and the certificate of election to Mr. Kitchin was given by the same Board of Canvassers with Governor Vance at its head, which awarded the commission of Congressman to Hon. J. J. Martin, Republican, against Mr. Yeates, Democrat, in the First district, greatly to the discontent of the latter gentleman and his friends.

Some Old Signs.

A tobacconist, says the Cleveland Press recently issued as a window sign a lithograph of his immense factory. A boy working in a Pearl street tobacco store cut out the windows of the pictorial factory with his knife, pasted red tissue on the back of the picture and set a lamp behind it, when lo, the factory shone forth as illuminated. The device gave the picture such a realistic appearance that a tobacco agent conceived the idea of having it patented, and the happy thought of the boy may yet put many nickels into his pocket.

One of the oldest signs in the city is an immense panorama painted on the front of an oyster store, representing a purple bandit slinging pink oysters out of a dapple-gray canal boat, and a quartette of yellow desperadoes shucking them and vowing by all the long-horned spoons that they will send the best of them to the owner of the panoramic store in Cleveland. The artist who perpetrated this picture has fled the city, and the owner of the store recently ran for office and was defeated.

Suicide of a Young Man.

Charlotte Observer 10th.

William Kiser, a young man about twenty-three years of age, lived with his mother, Mrs. Fanny Kiser, near Cherryville, in Gaston county. Sunday all the members of the family left home including the young man. In the evening Mrs. Kiser returned, and to her surprise found the door of their dwelling open. She made a search for her son, but could not see or hear of him on the premises. She was about to leave the house when a noise in the upstairs of the building attracted her attention. She went up and found her son hanging to the joists by a rope and stone dead, but not yet cold all over. The body was cut down as speedily as possible, but all efforts to restore it to life were unavailing. The noise which caused her to go up stairs was possibly made by the slipping of the rope by which he was hanging, as his feet were on the floor, and his knees only a few inches above it, so that he seemed to be almost in a kneeling posture. The Kisers are poor people, but were not suffering for the necessities of life, and no cause has yet been discovered for the rash act of the young man. The coroner investigated the case, and when he swore in the jury, he had to send to a neighbor's house for a Bible.

STATE NEWS.

[Correspondence under this head is furnished by regular contributors to the News.]

GUILFORD.

GREENSBORO, Dec. 9.—Since my last there has been but little news and I've been too busy to write it if there had been.

The quiet Sabbath morning stillness however was broken early by the news that one of our citizens had drowned herself, and on repairing to her well, too true was it found to be, and the life had passed away from the body of Mrs. Newton Caldwell, who lost her husband about a year ago. Her mind had been much affected, for months, and but recently she went (while her two little girls were at school) to a near by mill-pond, for a fearful act, which she found she could not do, but even as late as Saturday night late friends were with her in cheerful conversation, but before day (about 4 A. M.) she made the fearful leap into her well and was found quite dead soon after. She was an old citizen, and was the sister of Mrs. Colonel Wm. Johnson, of Charlotte, N. C.

Court is in session this week with Judge McKoy in the chair. We have so many lawyers and law students, it became necessary to enlarge our Court bar, which has been done, and the addition of new carpets, a six light chandelier and two two lights, one on each side the Judges' stand. A decided improvement in our already handsome Court House.

The fine rains of the past week has put a new face on our people generally and has brightened up things very much and the deep dust is a thing of the past.

Rev. Dr. D. R. Bruton is in attendance on his Conference and the Presbyterian Church is undergoing a new cover and other repairs, new furnace, etc. Dr. Smith, by invitation filled his pulpit on Sabbath, noon and night, to a very full audience.

Rev. J. L. Michaux (of the Central Protestant) is also absent at his Conference and yet there is a third Conference in session in North Carolina at this time (the divided M. P.) and M. E. Churches.

IREDELL.

ELMWOOD, Dec. 9.—The weather is warm and like spring.

Trade is the best it has been in several years.

Mr. Hill, of the firm of Morris, Hill & Co., of Statesville, marries Miss Summers, daughter of C. L. Summers, Esq., to-night.

Mrs. Nancy Blalock, wife of W. A. Blalock, died on the 7th instant.

At the late term of Alexander court W. C. League was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to ten years in Penitentiary. Joseph Gillespie, who killed Mr. Fowler at Morrisville last winter, was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged January 30th, 1880.

The Superior Court is in session in Statesville, Judge Schenck presiding. There are no cases of importance.

Rev. Mr. Lestrone, of Sumter, S. C., and formerly of New York, arrived at Elmwood to visit his daughter this morning. D.

LENOIR.

KINSTON, Dec. 10.—The weather is pleasant.

Trade is lively, cotton bringing twelve cents.

The following marriages have taken place since our last: Junius Stevenson, of Lenoir county, to Miss M. V. Heath, of Jones; by Rev. J. K. Faulkner. Henry Gray to Miss Laura Albritton. W. C. Wiggins died Sunday.

Mr. Thomas Hardin was thrown by a mule while on his way home Monday, and was badly hurt. He was taken to John A. Pollock's office and cared for and was soon able to go home.

The Republicans say Grant Democrats don't say much. Negroes say Kansas.

Rev. J. K. Faulkner has just closed a series of sermons at the Missionary Baptist church, four professed conversion and will be batised soon.

I notice several new buildings going up in town. The brick work of Dr. A. R. Millers double brick store and dwelling is done.

The Kinstou Rifles had a festival on Thursday and Friday nights, also a ball Friday night for the purpose of procuring a flag for the company. They had a splendid time and took in enough to buy several flags.

Several negroes leave here for Kansas or Indiana every week, but some write back that they are perishing or freezing. H.

Pitchblende.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 10.—A dispatch from Fairplay reports the discovery of uranium in the Sacramento mining district, a mineral found in Bohemia, but never before in this country. As far as known ore runs 66 per cent., and uranium is worth one thousand dollars per ton.

A Los Pinos dispatch, dated December 7th, says: Colerow deposited his vote for war, but the fact of the other Indians retaining their knives overpowered his vote. Two Utes arose from their seats in the council room and went to Indians on the outside, who immediately mounted their horses and rode away. They had evidently been waiting for the signal which would call them to arms, and at no time were any of them distant one hundred feet from the council room. Every Ute at the agency carried with him more arms than any two soldiers of the regular army.

Yesterday also brought out the fact that Ouray's respect for the President is due to his thinking that the Great Father is elected by, and rules over, the whole world. In one of his speeches he made that assertion, and Mr. Townsend, the interpreter, not exactly understanding what he meant by it, repeated the question, his answer showing plainly that he considered Washington the center of the universe and President Hayes the ruler of all nations. He has not been undeceived and will not be by this commission, as now his friendship for the whites is assumed from policy and he thinks it is necessary the armies of the world could be called to crush his tribe.

To Be Resuscitated.

Oxford Torch Light.

It gives us peculiar pleasure to announce that the Grand Lodge of Masons have made an appropriation of $2,000 for the re-establishment of the Orphans' Friend. We hope that no time will be spared in making the necessary preparations, and that at an early day it may begin its weekly visits in behalf of the orphan work in North Carolina.

WALL STREET STORIES.

TWO MEN THAT TOOK UP THE STOCK BUSINESS.

A Man who Made and Lost a Fortune —And How His Luck Changed.

Philadelphia Times.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—There is now in the street [New York] a man who came from Connecticut a few years ago and made $900,000 in six months. He had $7,000 to start with, partly money seemed to answer the touch. The news of his luck went back and fairly bewildered the town whence he came. Of those who took the fever seven gave up their employment and came to the city, making here a little bunch of speculators like many another that may be found in Wall street, drawn together by like causes, from many parts of the country. It is just as when somebody draws a prize in a lottery; straightway half the people in the neighborhood go to buy lottery tickets. And for the same reasons you may find in small cities or towns remote from New York communities who seem to have a bent for stock speculations. Ask why, and you will usually discover that somebody from that town has gone to New York and taken up the stock business or at some time has made a big hit there.

Among those who followed the man from Connecticut was a young man who had about $80,000, his share of a fortune left by a relative. This made him rich in his country town, but he was dazzled by the then rapidly increasing fortune of his successful townsman. He began putting small bites of his $80,000 into the Wall street shark's mouth and lost steadily, but not enough to alarm him, for he had no doubt his luck would turn and give him as much money as the man who had struck it rich had made. He met the fortunate individual in the street one day, and said:

"You've got $900,000; enough for any one to live on. Why don't you take it and get out and keep it?"

"Because I want to make it a round million; then I'll clear out."

In less than two months he lost every dollar of the $900,000. Luck went persistently against him as it had been for him, and in a desperate effort to regain his losses he staked up his margins until the whole great fortune had melted away. It took the man with $80,000 a year to lose his money. He made cautious operations, but he lost it all the same. He couldn't withstand the fascinations of the street, and now he is the cashier of a small banking concern at a salary of $1,800 a year.

The $900,000 man stuck to it, too. Sometimes he was well clad and sometimes not so well. Occasionally he made a little strike of a few hundred and speedily lost it all. When he got particularly hard aground he would slip up home and stay awhile, but he would soon return with a small capital and try again. On August 4th last he appeared with $100, which he put up as margin with a broker who had handled hundreds of thousands for him in his flush days and began to buy stocks. He struck the first of his great flood-tide that has inundated the country and came in with it. As his profits increased he kept on buying steadily, putting in all he had with the nerve of soldier; and with wisdom gained of previous experience he stopped short three days ago, when the market became choppy and uncertain, and rested on his oars with $300,000 in the bank. This safely invested in 4 per cents would give him an income of $12,000 a year, enough for a man of simple tastes to live on comfortably; but he sticks to the street and is still going in to make a million, and in all human probability he will keep at it until he is down again, and will wind up by joining the army of curbstone brokers who lead a wretched existence and finally fade away nobody knows whither.

A Conscientious Marquis.

The Marquis of Northampton, proprietor of that famous suburb of London, Clerkenwell, has always been accustomed to give his guests a bottle of wine when they went to pay him his rent. This year a cold collation awaited his tenants, but no wine to gladden their hearts. As he did not return them any portion of their rents because of bad times, they are angry with his economy and want to know whether genial old practices are to die out because America is a strong competitor. The truth is, however, the Marquis drops the wine for a conscientious reason. For some time he had been clearing out the lower classes of public houses on his property by refusing to renew leases; he is a teetotaler himself, and he does not exactly see why he should, at his own cost, aid in one direction a traffic which in every other, also at a great cost to himself, he is trying to restrain.

A Cattle Thief.

Chatham Record.

More than a year ago, an old colored man near this place, named Charles Hill, lost a fine young heifer, which reappeared last summer much to his joy. He had no idea where his heifer had been until a few weeks ago a butcher in Chapel Hill, named Creele, came and demanded it as his property, stating that he had bought it last year from one Nick Thompson a noted thief in this place), and that as it was so fine a heifer he had not butchered it but kept it to raise, and after being with him several months it had escaped and he had traced it to its old home. Of course, after learning that the heifer had been stolen Mr. Creele did not claim it, but had the thief arrested and bound over to our next Inferior Court.

After a Delinquent.

Chatham Record.

Deputy Sheriff, Spence Taylor, some time ago, levied upon the personal plunder of a well-known character in this community, named Sid Hammock, and advertised the same to be sold for payment of his taxes. In the interval between the time of levy and the day of sale, the articles were left in the possession of the delinquent (he promising to have them forthcoming when wanted) and so on the day appointed, last week, the officer with a number of expectant bidders went to Hammock's house to have the sale, but Sid. was too sharp for them, for he bolted his door and refused them admittance, and as the officer had no authority to enter forcibly he determined on a regular siege. So, taking position at a place where he could not be seen our energetic officer quietly awaited, anxiously expecting the besieged to open his door and come out; but no, hour after hour passed by (and right long ones they must have seemed) and still the officer stuck to his post, but still no door was opened and no Sid appeared. The shades of night were fast approaching, and the want of his usual good dinner began to forcibly remind our young friend that it would be more pleasant for him at home, so at last he withdrew in good order leaving the besieged master of the situation. But his labor had not been in vain, for the next day Sid. came to town and paid his taxes, so we congratulate our young friend upon being at last triumphant. Let all delinquent taxpayers bear in mind that nothing is more certain than death and taxes, and the latter are bound to be paid.

OUR MANUFACTURING INTERESTS

The Cape Fear Tobacco Works at Wilmington.

Wilmington Star 10th.

On or about the 1st of May last, Messrs. H. & L. Brunhild, of this city, and Mr. W. L. Meadows, of Henderson, N. C., commenced the manufacture of tobacco in Wilmington, having their building and machinery erected on Chestnut, between Sixth and Seventh streets, and known as the Cape Fear Tobacco Works. It was an entirely new field for this particular branch of industry and enterprise and at first the establishment of a tobacco manufactory here was regarded more in the light of an experiment than otherwise, and no little speculation was indulged in as to its probable permanency. Now, however, all such speculation is at an end, the proprietors being enabled to say that operations have thus far been very successful, beyond even their expectations. The works are under the exclusive supervision of Mr. Meadows, who claims to be the oldest tobacco manufacturer now in business in the State, and who knows about as well what to do with the "weed" in preparing it for use as any man in the country. They turn out both plug and smoking tobacco, the material used being principally the product of Granville county, which Mr. Meadows claims to be the best in the State, if not in the country. The favorite brands of chewing tobacco are known as "Capt. Jack," "Hiawatha" and "Rob Roy," though others are in considerable demand. Their smoking tobacco, we are informed, is also steadily growing in popularity.

About fifty hands, white and colored, are employed in the works, and about one thousand pounds of plug and smoking tobacco together are turned out each working day. The boxes in which the chewing tobacco is packed are imported from Detroit, Michigan, but can be as well manufactured here, and probably will before long. The bags for the smoking tobacco are made in Richmond, Va., where they have regular manufacturers engaged in the business, with which there can be no competition here at present.

The proprietors have in contemplation, they inform us, of erecting a large brick building for their works at an early day, as they find themselves entirely too cramped in their present location already, so rapid has been the growth of their business.

Mr. Meadows showed us a letter from Mr. John A. Downey, an old tobacco man, formerly of Granville county, in this State, but now of Houston, Texas, making inquiries in regard to the facilities, etc., for manufacturing tobacco here.

The establishment of tobacco manufactories in Wilmington will, of course, lead to a more extensive cultivation of the "weed" in this particular section. In fact, the proprietors of the Cape Fear Works have already had sample lots sent them for inspection in this vicinity.

The new residence for Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt, on the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street, New York, is to be eighty-four feet front and one hundred and twenty-five feet six inches deep and is to cost when completed, the sum of $200,000. It is to be eighty feet high, of limestone front; the roof of combination material, and the cornice of stone and metal; the building is to be steam-heated throughout. Work on the building is to be commenced in a few days.

The coming report of the State comptroller of New Jersey will show that the special taxes on railroads and the funds now invested, the interest of which is available, will afford sufficient income to pay all the State expenses for the coming year, and leave a surplus, without any State tax, and Governor McClellan will, it is understood, recommend that no State tax be levied.

An historical gun is owned by Fernando Healy, of Rehoboth, Mass. His son Joseph put a new stock on the piece in 1761, inserting a small silver plate bearing the initials, J. H., 1761. Joseph's son John used it during the revolution. It afterward came in possession of another son, the late Stafford Henly, of Rehoboth, father of the present owner. He used it fourteen days during the war of 1812, and received therefor a pension. In 1820 he restocked the gun and put in a new lock, and at his death it came into the hands of the present owner. The barrel is original and in good order and the gun is still used by members of the family as a fowling piece.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

The following is an extract from a letter written to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburgh, Penn:—

A BENEFACTRESS.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say, "A blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhœa. It softens the gums, reduces inflamation, cures wind colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

"Rutherford," said Mrs. Hayes one pay day-day morning, "I want a new seal sacque, but I'll freeze 'fore I'll wear a garment bought with money that was paid in as taxes on vile soul-destroying liquor! So there!" And Rutherford had to coax John Sherman to give him a certificate that all the money in Mr. Hayes' envelope was the proceeds of bond sales.

The papers are talking about Mrs. Hayes making "quiet" visits. Does she ever make any other kind? Foreign spectators would conclude that upon occasion she went around with a brass band like a circus procession, while all the facts go to show that her visits are invariably quiet,

ARNOLD'S DIAMONDS.

HOW A JEWELL FIELD WAS DISCOVERED.

Suit for One Hundred and Forty-three Thousand Dollars in the United States Court.

Suit has been filed in the United States Circuit Court by Samuel M. L. Barlow, of New York, against Mary Arnold, executrix of the last will and testament of Philip Arnold, deceased, for $143,000. One item of $100,000 is for cash expended and lost by Barlow upon "the fraudulent pretenses," etc., made by Philip Arnold in reference to the pretended discovery of a diamond field on the borders of New Mexico and Arizona. The second item of $43,000 is for interest on the $100,000 from July 29, 1872.

Barlow, in his petition, sets up the following state of facts: In October 1871, Ashbury Harpending, William M. Lent and George Dodge called upon Barlow, at his place of business in New York, and professed to be possessed of a valuable secret, which, under a pledge that their said secret should not be divulged to their prejudice, they desired to communicate to the plaintiff, and which pretended secret, Barlow having given such pledge, they then and there professed to communicate, alleging that the secret consisted of the discovery by Philip Arnold of a diamond field in one of the Territories of the United States on the borders of New Mexico and Arizona. In pretended confirmation of their statements they exhibited a bag which seemed to contain diamonds in the rough, together with other precious stones, all intermixed with sand and earth, and they represented to Barlow that Arnold had gathered these rough diamonds and precious stones upon the pretended diamond field; that they exceeded in value $100,000; and that Arnold and John Slack had from the same field another large quantity of diamonds of the estimated value of more than $500,000 in cash, representing that this lot was on deposit in the Bank of California in the city of San Francisco.

Harpending and his "pals" said they represented Arnold, but Barlow refused to enter into any business compact with any one but Arnold. The three men accordingly induced Arnold to go to New York about November 1st, and call upon Barlow. Arnold then stated that he had made a discovery of the field, but refused to reveal the precise locality. He told substantially the same story as the three men who had preceded him. He said further that he and Slack, while crossing some stream or lake on a raft, were wrecked, and had lost a large portion of the diamonds obtained on their visit, estimating the value of the diamonds so lost at over a million dollars.

Soon after Barlow telegraphed to Wm. C. Ralston, cashier of the Bank of California, inquiring whether a bag of diamonds had been so deposited with him, to which Ralston replied that a bag believed to be of great value had been deposited and that he believed the story of the said Arnold to be true.

Barlow, believing that there was something in the project, said he was willing to advance $100,000 providing they could get an act passed by Congress to secure them in the fruits of the discovery, and, further, on condition that a survey should be mode of the location by a competent engineer. Arnold replied that he was perfectly willing to have the ground surveyed, but it would be impossible at that season of the year, as the ground was covered with snow, and it could not be surveyed without great trouble and danger.

The result of the confab was that eventually the "Golconda Mining Company" was formed, and in the spring Mr. Barlow named an engineer to go to the spot and report. Arnold and his partners accompanied the engineer to the place, and it seems that everything was arranged to deceive him. Diamonds were indeed found in the dirt, and the engineer was completely hoodwinked by the adventurers into the belief that a diamond bonanza was at last found in this country. He went back to New York and reported that it was a bona fide mine. Mr. Barlow then put up his $100,000. Shortly after the rumor began to circulate that the whole thing was a huge fraud. Another engineer was sent to the "diamond field," and he reported that things were not at all as they had seemed; that "high lows were strutting as patent leathers," and there was the deuce to pay generally. The ground had been "salted" with a few diamonds obtained from Europe and America. The diamond bubble then burst.

The circumstances of the great diamond affair was well known in this city. Few more daring or romantic ventures have ever been made in this or any other country. The whole story reads like a chapter from a brilliant romance. The excitement when the field was first discovered, the graphic descriptions of the new El Dorado, the eventual bursting of the bubble, and exciting, resolute and varied litigation in the courts are well remembered by the people of this city. Now, after some years of inaction, the old matter comes up again. Phillip Arnold is dead, but it will be a long time before his celebrated "diamond field" will cease to be in the memory of many men.

A Petrified Eel.

New Haven Palladium.

Hiram H. Clark, while plowing one of his fields at Short Beach, Branford, some time since, found a petrified eel. It was two feet four inches long and averaged about seven inches in circumference. He first supposed it was an Indian relic, many arrow-heads and stone pestles having been found upon his farm. But the substance had a ring to it and was of a porous nature, which showed that it was petrifaction. The head of an eel was plainly defined, the eyes being prominent. The lot on which the curiosity was found was covered with water at all seasons of the year at the time that Mr. Clark went on to the farm. He drained it.

Chance for a Change.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Eastern Budget, the organ of the Austrian embassy here says we hear from Sofia, that the Prince Alexander, of Bulgaria is daily growing more unpopular and serious apprehensions are felt for the safety of his throne. It is becoming evident that the Constitution is not workable and the country is threatened with anarchy.

If He Wanted to Trade.

Atlanta Constitution.

Commissioner Raum has sent thirty fresh guns to Georgia for the purpose of capturing illicit distilleries. If the old man really wanted to trade, he would have sent along his gallon jug with a fifty cent shinplaster wrapped around the stopper.

The Boston Common Council.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec 10.—The Board of Aldermen of this city will probably stand nine Democrats to five Republicans, while the Republicans have ten majority in the Common Council.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1879.

ONE of the most remarkable trials in the annals of criminal jurisprudence is that of the Rev. Mr. Hayden, accused of the murder of a young woman named Mary Stannard. She had made statements of criminal intimacy with him and that she was to become a mother on account of it; yet a post-mortem examination showed that such was not the case. Suspicion was rife at the time that her father knew more than he chose to tell, and the testimony adduced on the trial has not lessened that suspicion. The trial has cost the State about $50,000, yet there has been no evidence taken that would warrant a conviction. The evidence has been chiefly that of experts subpenaed by the State. A vast amount of chemical lore has been submitted to the jury and the courthouse converted into a laboratory; and all this will have about as much effect on a common-sense jury as if it had not been rendered. The people in that neighborhood are disgusted with the prosecution, and rumor has it that the legal prosecutor is disgusted with his colleague, the case and himself. If the man is guilty he should be made to expiate his crime on the gallows; but such a strained effort to convict him is a mockery of justice.

For the sake of information of those Northern journals whose columns are filled in campaign times with stories of bull-dozed negroes and a general display of white inhumanity we take the following from the Raleigh Republican, a paper owned and edited by colored men, the final clause applying with full force to those ranters that work for political ends to their own advancement:

The deep interest taken by the white people of North Carolina in the success of the late Industrial Fair is such as should challenge the highest admiration of all. They have demonstrated to the world that there is no natural antagonism existing between the two races in this State, and that the colored people have no better friends than are to be found among the better class of the white people. We were never so proud as when we saw the white people of North Carolina, regardless of party, coming forward with warm heart and generous hand to the assistance of their colored fellow citizens in their struggle for a higher and nobler manhood. It furnished an additional confirmation of what we have always said of them both in our private and public utterances, and through the public utterances, and through the public prints, ta-wit: that no better people dwell on the face of the globe than the people of North Carolina. What an argument for peace, for unity, for friendly co-operation between the races was shown on our Fair grounds last week! We wound have had the whole country witness the spectacle. Now what we want in North Carolina is to be let alone. We can live together and live on the best of terms if the politicians will only keep off hands and let us work the thing in our own way.

THE INDIAN DEMAND.

The demand of Ouray—before the Ute commission—in behalf of the Indians concerned in the White River massacre brings into prominent consideration a question which has been the subject of consideration at several meetings of the cabinet. Ouray demands as a contingent to the surrender of those concerned in the murders at the White River agency that they shall be brought to Washington and tried, claiming that justice to them in Colorado is impossible. Ouray is either a remarkably intelligent Indian or he has some one at his elbow who knows something of the law. The question has been on several occasions discussed by the Cabinet as to what could be done with the Indians, even in case they should be surrendered. The crime was committed on the Ute reservation, without the jurisdiction of any state courts. It is held by the Interior department as in the Ponca case, which, while not analagous, involved something of the same principle that Indians are not within the jurisdiction of United State courts or in other words, citizens.

The only recourse would thus be to trial by military justice. This is impossible in the present case. The offence was committed against the military arm, but was it in any way connected with the military jurisdiction. In this is the difference between the Modoc and White river murderers. As there is some doubt on the subject still, the question as to how the murderers may be dealt with will probably go at once to the Attorney General for a decision. The Indians have all along worked for a delay. In the question, as now presented, they have an excellent prospect of success. It is not considered likely under these circumstances that the prisoners, when surrendered, will be brought to Washington. The opinion in well-informed corners is that the finale will be the avoidance of an Indian war, for which purpose the commission was primarily founded, and the confinement of some of the Utes in forts for a term of years, as has been done in times past with the Commanches, Kiowas and other Indians.

THE HEGIRA.

The people of North Carolina, or the Democratic portion of them, are badly frightened at the exodus of black laborers from that State. And the worst of it is, the hegira is only in its infancy.—Washington Republican.

Not frightened the least bit. The emigration from the State amounts to about four hundred and eighty colored people—men, women and children. The hegira is in its infancy, and like many other infants it expires calmly before it attains the age of six months. By inducements that would not be carried out, even by the great Republican party of the North, some few have emigrated to arrive at Washington, almost under the eyes of the man who has made a fortune out of the Government—Mr. Almon M. Clapp—and allowed to linger there through days of suffering and starvation. The hegira is in its infancy, and the infant will strangle stiff.

The Colored Emigrants.

Washington Star, 8th.

Rev. Daniel Draper, of St. Paul's A. M. E. church, held services yesterday morning and evening for the benefit of the poor colored emigrants from North Carolina sheltered in that church. It is thought they will be ready to start on their journey to Indiana to-morrow. The contributions have been quite liberal, especially so in the churches yesterday. Mrs. Miranda Bailey, living next door to the church has rendered great service to the emigrants by throwing open her house to them and cooking their food.

The Eligibility of Secretary Sherman.

Secretary Sherman is advertised as one of the directors of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad in Poor's Manual, along with Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas A. Scott. The question has been raised, does the fact that Mr. Sherman holds this place make him ineligible to bublic office under the act of September 2, 1789, and does it expose him to the penalties inflicted in that act? It will be remembered that when President Grant appointed Mr. Alexander T. Stewart Secretary of the Treasury, in March 1869, the appointee was found to be disabled under the act referred to because he was "concerned in carrying on the business of trade of commerce." But the act further disables all persons who may be directly or indirectly "owner in whole or in part of any sea vessel, or purchase, by himself or another in trust for him, any public lands or other public property, or be concerned in the purchase or disposal of any public securities of any State or of the United States," etc. Any person offending against any of the prohibitions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor and forfeit to the United States the penalty of $3,000, and shall, upon conviction, be removed from office and forever thereafter incapable of holding any office under the United States." When the case of Mr. Stewart came before the Senate Mr. Sherman himself proposed to repeal so much of the act as prohibits the Secretary of the Treasury from embarking in trade or commerce, but objection was made and the President withdrew Mr. Stewart's name. It has been suggested that if Mr. William H. Vanderbilt's name were now to be presented he would be objected to as being ineligible under the statute. The point raised upon Mr. Sherman is not that he is disabled from holding his secretaryship because he is supposed to be concerned in the ownership of public lands or in the purchase or disposal of public securities, for there is no evidence in regard to that at all, but as to whether he is not disabled by the publicly known fact that he is and has been since he took office a director in the Fort Wayne railroad. To be eligible as director he must hold stock of the road. Does that make him out to be directly or indirectly concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce? The construction contended for by those who raise the objection to Mr. Sherman's eligibility would practically disqualify every man who owns a share of stock in any monetary institution. Under such a rule the Secretary of the Treasury would have to be chosen from the classes least conversant with business and financial affairs. It is hardly conceivable that such is the meaning of the law. The general public will not attach much consequence to this matter, but the statute, in fact, having been re-enacted in the revised statutes, has all the force of new and amended legislation, and is therefore assumed to be as applicable to the present state and modes of commerce as it was to the past.

THE ATTACHMENT.

The People Have Formed for the Clement Attachment.

Atlanta Constitution.

WESTMINSTER, S. C., December 3d.—EDITORS CONSTITUTION: We would be pleased to say a few words through your valuable paper to its many readers interested in the Clement attachment, since the views of Mr. Gates, as expressed to the Constitution a few days since, regarding the supply of machinery, etc., may tend to mislead them. If you have concluded to invest in the new process of making yarn direct from the seed-cotton, we say to you give yourselves no uneasiness about the supply of machinery. Send in your orders at once, prepare to make good the payment and you will be abundantly supplied. This is a wide world we live in. It is true we are receiving orders, but we are equal to the emergency. It is true that the prospects for a greatly increased demand for cotton machinery is imminent, but this need only serve to stimulate your immediate action, and to suggest to Atlanta and other southern cities that there is money in making cotton machinery, as well as in manufacturing the staple. Macon has ordered an attachment and it will be at work in a short time and it is quite apparent that there is something more in the breeze there. Parties wishing to buy the attachment simply, will be supplied, or we will sell you individual, county or state rights. To those who are yet undecided and want more light, we will be pleased to give full information relative to this new and important enterprise. When machinery is ordered through us, we furnish a plan of arrangement in your building. The plan will be specially gotten up to suit each case and with an eye to strict economy, convenience and labor saving.
Respectfully, JOHN V. STRIBLING.

What the Washington Market Company Want.

N. G. Ordway and General Birney appeared before the sub-committee of the House District of Columbia committee on the municipal code, Tuesday morning, and urged such amendments to the proposed municipal code as will prevent any interference with the chartered rights of the Washington Market Company. The company, they claimed, were desirous to protect and grant the farmer and producers ample privileges for the sale of their products. They urged also that the tax now imposed on hucksters should also be put on stallholders, or at least no discrimination should be made between the two.

SUNDAY LAWS PROPOSED.

Revs. B. Peyton Brown and Dr. John Lanahan advocated regulations inhibiting the crying of Sunday newspapers on the streets. They urged no objection to the sale but to the noise; they also urged regulations for the prohibition of secular work on the Lord's day, and the prevention of Sunday excursions by land or water, and hunting in the suburbs.

The Hungary Imendation.

A despatch from Pesth says a destruction of Dams on nearly all the principal rivers in Hungary and Transylvania and terrible inundations are again filling the public mind with anxiety, but for the intense cold ranging from 15° to 20° Reaumur Grasswardein and several villages around this city would, ere this, have shared the fate of Szegedin. Temesvar Aradia and several towns in Transylvania were partly inundated on Monday, and as in Grasswardein a number of houses fell in. So suddenly came the flood that hardly any preventive means had been taken and a great damage to property is reported. But no loss of life. The continuance of the frost can alone prevent a most serious disasters.

Guilty of Wrong.

Some people have a fashion of confusing excellent remedies with the large mass of "patent medicines," and in this they are guilty of a wrong. There are some advertised remedies fully worth all that is asked for them, and one at least we know of—Hop Bitters. The writer has had occasion to use the Bitters in just such a climate as we have most of the year in Bay City, and has always found them to be first-class and reliable, doing all that is claimed for them.—Tribune.

Sheep-Killing Dogs.

Oxford Torch Light.

We learn that one night last week Mr. R. J. Wortham, father of A. R. Wortham, Esq., of our town, lost thirty-nine sheep in one night by dogs. This is a good sermon in favor of the dog law, which we hope to see enforced by our next Legislature.

Will Jay Gould Personally Edit Greeley's Tribune.

New York Letter in St. Louis Republican.

When the New York Tribune seemed moribund Mr. Gould purchased the controlling interest in it. Had he become its owner earlier the present brick-and-mortar suggestion of a sugar refinery would not have been possible, for Jay Gould doesn't run to gimcracks, even in architecture. The tall tower, however, however, was there, and it was plastered with a $400,000 mortgage. Mr. Gould ordered that the energies of the whole institution should be directed toward getting rid of that debt, and said that he wanted no dividends until the mortgage was lifted. Perhaps Jay Gould will some day take editorial charge of the Tribune himself. He is a terse, classical writer, with a habit of piercing the heart of his subject in the first dash of his pen. Once he was an editor, and a good one. Even in the midst of making millions he has found time to write an occasional article for the Tribune, or to make a skeleton of his ideas, that the pen-drivers in the tall tower might array them in the brocaded English in fashion there. Mr. Gould has a strong newspaper instinct. He has an orthodox respect for a fact which becomes an editor. He gathers more information daily by telegraph and mail now about his enterprises than do some journals about the news of the world. He has the art of organizing a new service, which would come charmingly into use if he once became the Tribune's editor.

Mr. Gould is a humane thinker, a man fertile in expedients and remedies, and as editor his suggestions would be valuable upon national, State and commercial affairs. He understands the selection of men, and would surround himself with a corps of able writers in pantaloons, not in petticoats. He could use his new telegraph company in forwording special news, and outherald the Herald and assasinate the associated press. His special correspondents could mount their chief editor's locomotive, and gather news from Oshkosh to Omaha, and faom New Jersey to Utah. Mr. Gould would make a great editor, because he has got the brains and a plenty of common sense. We have editors in New York who have brains, but no sense, and there seem to be editors here, who seem to have a mass of uncommon sense, but no brains. Mr. Gould would make a great newspaper, because he has a mind for detail and a faculty of making each detail great in itself. Now, with a newspaper on hand, with a telegraphic system reaching out in in every direction and crawling uuder the ocean to link the continents together, with an army of one hundred thoussnd railroad and telegraphic employees the continent over, each instructed to convey to the nearest bureau all the rumors, views and suggestions that come to him, what a Utopia of journalism he could make for himself!

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side, sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with rax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

JOHN A. BRAGASSA,
16 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, September 16, 1879.

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C. I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.) It is indorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va. Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, LL. D., Col., Va. It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and flatulent colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., No. Cont. About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Failing in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va. I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va. It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in familie from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate. This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

The Mother's Thought.

It was my own sweet child—the one
Whose baby mouth breathes at my breast.
(A fairer and a brighter, none
Save his own mother ever prest
Into diviner rest.)

He had escaped my arms and strayed
Into the pitiless world that night,
With wounded feet and faith betrayed,
Charmed backward by a glimmer of light,
Almost he stood in sight.

Oh, I had let him ask in vain,
(Vague, lonesome, shadowy years ahead,)
My roof to hide him from the rain,
My lamp to comfort him, my bread,
Who came as from the dead!

—SARAH M. B. PIATT.

An English physician says that ladies who impair their constitutions with strong coffee have a mania for acting the parts of persecuted saints.

An Ohio man met a weeping woman and kissed her tears away. The jury found a verdict of $3,800 for the plaintiff. It is far better to let her squall.

"The only jokes women like to read are those which reflect ridicule upon men." "Yes," says a contemporary, "on taking up a paper a woman invariably turns to a marriage column."

While only one woman has been hanged in America during the same period, there have been sixteen executions of females in England since Queen Victoria's accession to the throne.

A young lady who didn't admire the custom in vogue among her sisters, of writing a letter and then cross-writing it to illegibility, said she would prefer her epistles "without an overskirt."

It is said of Leontine Nicolle, a young French nurse, in the insane asylum at La Salpetriere, that through her devotion not less than five hundred insane men and women had regained their senses and their liberty.

The Sultan of Turkey has bestowed the order of charity, a grand cordon enriched with diamonds, upon Madame Fourmier, of the French embassy, as an acknowledgement of her self devotion during the late war.

When two young people with a singleness of purpose and a doubleness of affection sit up with each other, and when the clock strikes twelve he says: "Is it possible?" and she says, "Why I didn't know it was so late you may draw your conclusion that if the business boom continues, a united couple will be hunting a house to rent in the spring.

Several young men were sitting together, and a young lady happened to approach the vicinity. One "real sweet" young fellow seeing, as he supposed, the young lady looking at him, remarked playfully, and with a becoming simper, "Well, Miss ——, you needn't look at me as though you wanted to eat me." "Oh, no," sweetly replied the young lady, "I never eat greens."

Felicia was gliding down Tremont street yesterday afternoon, with a derby hat on and carrying her hands in the pockets of her long ulster, when a small boy run up and said, "Say, Miss! if yer had a cigar now, you'd be all right wouldn't yer?"

The opera was "Faust," and as he and his adored gazed upon the apotheosis as the angels carried Margerita into Heaven, he muttered, "Beautiful, beautiful! Here the soul clothed in all its purity is wafted to eternity to sweet strains of angelic music." "Yes, Gus," she replied, dreamily, "but I think if that grappling was to give way and dump her on the stage, it would kind of churn her up some."—St. Louis Spirit.

"Put on Petticoats."

The Indian custom is to butcher prisoners taken in battle. Such, however was not the practice of Tecumseh, the great chief who, as an ally of the British, fought against us in the war of 1812. He hated the Americans, but he fought as a warrior, not as a Thug.

In 1813, Col. Dudley, while attempting to relieve Fort Meigs, where Gen. Harrison was besieged by British and Indians, he was defeated with great slaughter. As usual, the Indians began killing the American prisoners. Gen. Proctor, the British commander, looked coolly on and made no effort to restrain them.

Suddenly a voice sounded like a clap of thunder, and Tecumseh, mounted on a foaming horse, dashed among the butchers. Two Indians were in the act of killing a prisoner. Springing from his horse, Tecumseh seized one Indian by the throat and the other by the breast and threw them to the ground.

Drawing tomahawk and scalping-knife, he dared any Indian to touch another prisoner. A chief disobeyed, and Tecumseh brained him with his tomahawk. The Indians sullenly desisted.

"What will become of my Indians?" he exclaimed. Then turning to Proctor, who stood near, he sternly demanded why he had not put a stop to the massacre.

"Your Indians cannot be commanded," replied the General.

"Go away! You are unfit to command. Put on petticoats!" was the scornful reply.

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Cough, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggists as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

Behold Me a Well Woman.

CANCER.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family dependent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with half a dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. FULLER SUTT.

GOODMAN, MISS., May 6, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, Boston:

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered considerably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

Yours respectfully,
J. W. TAGGART.

I write this to certify that I have known Mrs. Fuller Sutt from childhood, and have seen the hours of agony, that her patient womanhood has been called upon to endure. She has suffered untold agonies and now sits beside me in perfect health with her child upon her knee. The prayers of this grateful woman will ever be yours, my noble sir, and we add our testimony to the thousands that favor the greatest of all modern discoveries, "Vegetine."

I take great pleasure in recommending your Vegetine. I have been suffering for a long time with the Lung Disease; trying every kind of medicine that I could get, but none seemed to do me any good, until I tried your great Vegetine remedy. I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. I don't consider that your medicine has its equal, for the diseases which you propose to cure, especially the disease that I have been afflicted with

No More Hard Times.

If you will stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style, buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of employing expensive, quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, but put your trust in that simple, pure remedy, Hop Bitters; that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see good times and have good health. Don't be alarmed, young man, if about this season of the year you discover the idol of your alleged soul gazing intently at your feet during one of your visits to her. She is only sizing them up for a pair of slippers that you can never wear.

The lady city editor of the Dubuque Times says: One of the greatest mysteries to us is why a fashionable young lady will turn up her nose, throw out coarse insinuations or snub an old gentleman who smokes Durham's best tobacco in a clay pipe, while in five minutes after she will blow, simper, giggle, smile and say sweet things for an hour at a time to some well-dressed fop who leans over toward her smoking a poor three cent cigar.

Mean Competition.

Since the introduction of Patapsco Baking Powder on the market and the complete revolution it has effected in the trade, venders of unreliable powders have sought to sell their goods on the popularity of Patapsco by claiming the same popularity. Don't believe them: Stick to what you know to be good.

Delightful Bouquets.

Pill Box.

I offer for sale my running horse Pill Box, who came from the plow last August, having made a crop, and ran with 2 weeks' handling against trained thoroughbred race horses of reputation, beating them in half mile, mile and two miles races, at the Raleigh and Weldon fairs. He is a bright bay, fine form, and remarkably stylish, and is a most excellent saddle and double harness horse, is (6) six years passed, perfectly sound. Also Flora and Dora, a pair dark bay mares, aged 5 and 6, of beautiful form, a match in color, size, and gait, sound, and not at all afraid of cars—an excellent coach team. And lastly Jack and Jim, a pair of bright bays, 6 and 8 years old. Jack is a bad runaway horse; Jim will not only run but kicks. This team is warranted as represented; special inducements will be offered a buyer. All at J. D. Whitaker's wood, coal and lumber yard, West Hargett St.

Coal.

Just arrived to-day a cargo of coal at J. D. Whitaker's yard. His coal has not been exposed to the summer's heat and rain, therefore has more oil in it and less dust, than any on this market. nov28-1m

Coal.

500 tons just received (and more behind to come when that is sold), of the purest sort, and not too much OIL in it, will last well and give good heat, and will not burn up in a minute. Price as low as any. Give me a trial.

Practical Economy.

Before Patapsco Baking Powders was patented and placed on the market, consumers had to pay 50 cents per pound for the Old Rut Powders. You can now buy Patapsco for about one-half that amount. This accounts for the popularity of Patapsco.

For Sale.

Large Sale.

Here Jimmy, run up to Jones; and get me a ten cent package of Blackwell's Fragrant Durham Bull Smoking Tobacco. See here, I mean the genuine Durham, look for the Bull on it, and take no other. All right sir, I nose it, dey kant fool me.

Make a Note of This.

Professor Green, a distinguished allopathic physician, wrote to the Medical Journal to the effect that after all other means had failed he sent for the Kidney Cure, (now Safe Kidney and Liver Cure), and to his astonishment cured a serious case of Bright's Disease by administering it, and afterward found it equally beneficial in other cases. He advised his brother physicians to use it in preference to anything else for kidney diseases.

Political Issues.

Kearney's advice to all parties is to "pool their issues." We think a good deal as he does, that we should bury the dead issues of the past. As a healing compound for all issues, sores, wounds &c, there is nothing equal to Henry's Carbolic Salve. Beware of counterfeits.

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anaemia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."
W. F. BARR, M. D.,
Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anamia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.
GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,
New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases.
G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D.,
Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect.
E. O. GRIGSBY,
DeView, Ark.

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from druggists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail, postpaid.

THE SUN FOR 1880.

THE SUN will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the SUN believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily make-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read THE SUN; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates intolerance and rascality even more than it hates nauseous ary words. It abhors fraud, pities fools, and deplores nincompoops of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second, and discountenance the third. All honest men, with honest convictions, whether sound or mistaken are its friends. And THE SUN makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which THE SUN will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government as that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent Administration intrenched at Washington. THE SUN did something toward dislodging the gang and breaking its power. The same men are now intriguing to restore their leader and themselves to places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. THE SUN will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, THE SUN is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1 20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.
